Dear Exhibitor

At this congress, exhibitors will get the opportunity of demonstrating their latest products, technology and skills and will also have personal interact with the clients.

Products, services, solutions

Bringing together all major players in the poultry industry, from large and small owner producers and suppliers through to key decision makers from big corporations, AVI Africa 2018 showcases the latest in products, techniques and services aimed at enhancing business and maximising the profits of the commercial poultry agricultural enterprises.

A main attraction year after year is the AVI Africa exhibition area, where chick-, egg- and broiler producers, from the commercial and emerging market sectors, are exposed to the widest range of practical developments and commercial solutions. These are designed to meet the unique agricultural requirements of the poultry industry.

The official opening by the SAPA Honorary President will take place on Tuesday 12 June, after which all the Annual General meetings will take place. Feedback from the industry will be given in the afternoon session.

We are planning three parallel sessions for the second day and the conference will end at lunchtime on 14 June 2018.

Avi Africa cannot be successful without the support of the exhibitors. They spend considerable amounts to take part in Avi Africa in order to display the latest equipment and technology to poultry farmers.

In order to give you value for your investment, SAPA will pro-actively encourage the delegates to invite their company buyers, farm managers and supervisors to view the latest and most modern poultry equipment and services as well as to hear topical talks of practical value to producers.

A day delegate fee of R630 will be applicable for delegates and exhibitors visiting Avi Africa. This fee will include conferencing, exhibitions, 3 teas with snacks and lunch.

Delegate registrations will only open on 1 December and if you register and pay online from 1 December 2017, you will qualify for a discounted price. This offer is valid until 30 April 2018. Visit www.sapoultry.co.za for more information.
